Message from the ICCWS President

Paul White
ICCWS President

On behalf of the Committee of Management and all involved in the 2019 International Cool Climate Wine Show, I would like to thank you for participating in our event and congratulate you on your outcome. The details of your results can be found in this booklet.

Once again, the wine show has proved to be a fantastic opportunity for those in the wine industry to benchmark and showcase their wines. Our judging panel has some of the best local, national and international judges in the industry, something of which we are extremely proud. It was led again in 2019 by our Chair of Judges, Robert Paul, and we extend to Robert and all our judges our thanks for their time, dedication and expertise.

This year, over 700 wines were judged over two days, facilitated by a steward team of close to twenty volunteers who we also thank for their time and perseverance. All the judges were yet again impressed with the quality of the wines they were judging.

Our Public Tasting events gave participants the opportunity to taste wines across all classes. This afforded them the chance to sample wines they may not have tried before, and hopefully, this provides you with new customers in the future.

I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge and thank the rest of the ICCWS Committee, all of whom are volunteers, for their enduring support, as well as our partners, supporters and event staff.

We look forward to having your support again next year, in what will be our 20th show.

Message from the ICCWS Chair of Judges

Robert Paul
2019 ICCWS Chair of Judges

The International Cool Climate Wine Show continues to provide a unique snapshot of the Australian and international wine industries. It recognises the past, benchmarks the present and points to the future.

In 2019, this was especially evident in the red wine classes. Pinot Noir, predictably, did well but there were exciting gold medal debuts for Grenache-based wines, Touriga Nacional and Mataro. When this show began some twenty years ago, I am sure no-one could have predicted that these varieties would be winning awards here. This is an indication of how adventurous and innovative our wine industry has become. It's responsive to external change that impacts sales led by consumer demand, but it is also adaptive to changing climate. I encourage all exhibitors to seek out these fascinating examples of old varieties newly born in a new environment.

White wines were not left behind. Once again, Chardonnay led the way but there were several outstanding Gruner Veltliner entries, demonstrating the potential of this variety. Pinot Gris/Grigio winemaking continues to develop with producers taking a more sympathetic, gentle hand with positive results. Rieslings from Orange performed well and were noteworthy for their lifted, floral aromatics--a strong indicator of their cool-climate origins.

The future of cool climate winemaking looks assured judging by the entries in this show. There are world-class classic Sauvignon Blancs from Marlborough, exemplary Pinot Noirs from Mornington and Geelong, amongst other regions, rich and powerful Chardonnays from many regions and of course, the exciting "new" varieties mentioned above.

The international entries were varied and gave the judges plenty of food for thought. Not always as obvious as the New world wines, they perhaps need more contemplation from us. As expected, the entries from Champagne were uniformly excellent. The show committee is making every effort to increase the number of international exhibits so hopefully next year we can report more success for these wines.

Judges' Comments

A strong consistent class of sparkling. Best wines had sparkling purity on nose and palate with good levels of complexity and autolytic.

A delightful class to judge. The older wines shows excellent quality of fruit, with layers of complexity and richness. The younger wines also showed good fruit and wine making qualities, but lacked the complexity. Watch out for green herbal characters with early picking.
